Let's Start!

What will you have done?

Learning Outcome

Describe hypothetical situations in written and spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What types of technology will have changed or disappeared in fifty years?
- What will have changed in your life in the next twenty years?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about emotions, personal qualities and behavior.
- I can talk about future action.
- I can talk about what I will be doing or what I will have done.

Let's Explore!

Peter is open to whichever way the wind blows him.

* "Whichever way the wind blows" means that it doesn't matter where or how something happens, it will be accepted.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Kevin: Hey Pete. Wow, you're reading a newspaper. You are a real Luddite.
- Peter: No, I just got it for free. Anyway, they won't be printing them in the near future.
- Kevin: I think you should keep it and put it in a time capsule to be opened in 2100. By that time newspapers will have disappeared.
- Peter: The trees will have disappeared, too. The whole planet will have transformed into something unrecognizable to us now.
- Kevin: In the next 10 years scientists will have made teleportation possible.
- Peter: I hope in that 10 years, I'll have started my own company and I'll have become rich.
- Kevin: I'll probably be married with kids within the next 10 years.
- Peter: You?
- Kevin: Next year I'll be planning my wedding!
- Peter: You are joking!
- Kevin: No, dude. I am serious. Mary and I have talked. Next month she'll be moving in with me. I am going to propose to her in the spring. I'm buying a ring next week.
- Peter: That blows me away. I had no idea.
- Kevin: What's your ten year plan?
- Peter: My plan? Well, first I am going to make a lot of money. Then I hope to meet a sensitive and caring soul who I can be with for eternity. But I'm not banking on it.
- Kevin: Do you imagine yourself living in Boston in ten years?
- Peter: I'm open to whichever way the wind blows me.
- Kevin: That's cool. As long as you are content. A lot will change in the next ten years.
- Peter: I hope so. Hey, do you know what time this place closes?
- Kevin: It closes at 1 a.m.

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

The Future Continuous and Future Perfect Tenses vs. Regular Future Tenses

You use the Future Continuous tense to talk about something happening at a particular time in the future.

You use the Future Perfect tense to talk about an action in the future before another action in the future. This is the past in the future.

When you use the Future Continuous tense, the action will have started before that moment but it will not have finished at that moment.

For example:

I will be working at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

The person will start work at some point in the future and be working at 4 p.m. It is not clear when the person will stop working.

The structure of the Future Continuous is:

Subject + will + be + verb -ing

Next year I'll be planning my wedding!

When you use the Future Perfect, you can sometimes think of the Future Perfect tense like the Present Perfect tense, but instead of your viewpoint being in the present, it is in the future.

For example:

You can call me at work at 8 a.m. I will have arrived at the office by 8.

The train will leave the station at 9 a.m. You will arrive at the station at 9:15 a.m. When you arrive, the train will have left.

The structure of the Future Perfect tense is:

Subject + will + have + past participle

I hope that in 10 years, I'll have started my own company and I'll have become rich.

* You often use the preposition by with the Future Perfect to indicate the end of a particular time period.

By that time newspapers will have disappeared.*

Learning Points

Look at the chart for a comparison of the other tenses used to talk about the future.

Name	Use	Example
The Modal Will	talk about things that are not decided; make a decision at the moment of speaking for the future; make predictions	I'll probably be married with kids within the next 10 years.
Be going to	When you talk about intentions	I am going to propose to her in the spring.
Present Continuous	When you talk about things that are arranged, on the agenda or booked for the future	I'm buying a ring next week.
Simple Present	When you talk about schedules	Do you know what time this place closes? It closes at 1 a.m.

Examples:

- I hope that in 10 years, I'll have started my own company and I'll have become rich.
- A lot will change in the next ten years.
- Well, first I am going to make a lot of money.
- Next month she'll be moving in with me.
- I am going to propose to her in the spring.
- I'm buying a ring next week.
- The trees will have disappeared too. The whole planet will have transformed into something unrecognizable to us now.
- In the next 10 years scientists will have made teleportation possible.
- I hope that in 10 years, I'll have started my own company and I'll have become rich.
- I'll probably be married with kids within the next 10 years.
