Let's Start!

Where are you going on vacation?

Learning Outcome

Describe situations in spoken interactions according to social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What will traveling in the future be like?
- What will you be doing at this time next year?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about emotions, personal qualities and behavior.
- I can talk about future action.
- I can talk about what I will be doing or what I will have done.

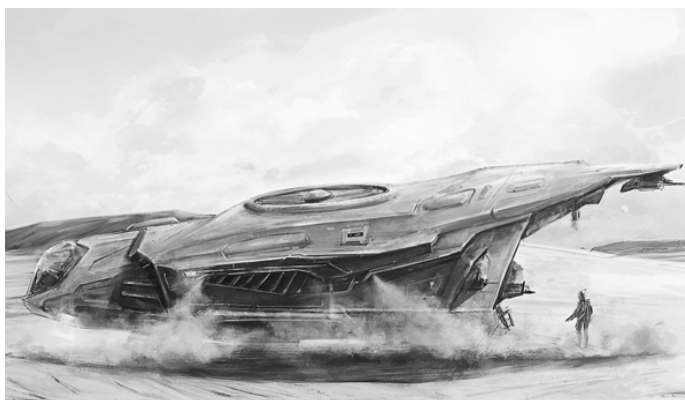

Let's Explore!

Vanessa's favorite pastime is not flying!

* A 'pastime is a way of spending time.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: Oh gosh, not the middle seat! Flying is not my favorite pastime!
- Sally: Here take mine. Sitting in the middle doesn't bother me.
- Vanessa: Traveling in the future is going to be a lot more luxurious than it is now. Did you know that people will be flying in planes with a panoramic view? Apparently, there will also be memory foam seats that morph into the perfect fit.
- Sally: That sounds amazing.
- Vanessa: For long flights, they will spray sleep hormones so everyone will be able to arrive well-rested, especially after a long overseas flight.
- Sally: This sounds great, but by the time that happens, I will have perished, or I will have stopped traveling because I'll be ancient.
- Vanessa: Well, I think we will experience some of it. Also I hope that by the time it happens, the earth won't have been destroyed by climate change or war.
- Sally: I didn't know you were such a wealth of knowledge V. I just can't wait until we are sitting by the pool sipping fruit cocktails.
- Vanessa: I'm so happy we won't be wearing winter coats! Also we won't be cooking or cleaning or working! Being on holidays is so wonderful!
- Steward: Will you be having a beverage?
- Vanessa: Oh yes. I'll have pineapple juice.
- Sally: And I'll have water.
- Vanessa: Thanks.
- Steward: Please don't hesitate to ask.
- Sally: By the time the flight is over, I'll have fallen for someone!
- Vanessa: Or I'll have had a panic attack.
- Sally: It's just a bit of turbulence. You'll be fine.

Learning Points

The Future Continuous and Future Perfect Tenses vs. Regular Future Tenses

You use the Future Continuous tense to talk about something happening at a particular time in the future.

You use the Future Perfect tense to talk about an action in the future before another action in the future. This is the past in the future.

The structure of the Future Continuous is:

Subject + will + be + verb -ing

The structure of the Future Perfect is:

Subject + will + have + past participle

Look at the chart for a comparison of the other tenses used to talk about the future.

Name	Use	Example
The Modal Will	when you talk about things that are not decided, make a decision at the moment of speaking for the future or make predictions	There will also be memory foam seats that morph into the perfect fit. I'll have pineapple juice.
Be going to	when you talk about intentions	Traveling in the future is going to be a lot more luxurious than it is now.
Present Continuous	when you talk about things that are arranged, on the agenda or booked for the future	I just can't wait until we are sitting by the pool sipping fruit cocktails.
Simple Present	when you talk about schedules	The plane lands in about 10 minutes.
Future Continuous	the action will have started before that moment but it will not have finished at that moment	I'm so happy we won't be wearing winter coats!
Future Perfect	like the Present Perfect tense, but instead of your viewpoint being in the present, it is in the future	By the time that happens, I will have perished.

Learning Points

Examples:

- Traveling in the future is going to be a lot more luxurious than it is now.
- Will you be having a beverage?
- I'm so happy we won't be wearing winter coats!
- I will have stopped traveling because I'll be ancient.
- Did you know that people will be flying in planes with a panoramic view?
- By the time the flight is over, I'll have fallen for someone!
- Also we won't be cooking or cleaning or working!

Gerunds

When a verb ends in -ing, it may be a present participle or it may be a gerund.

When you use a verb + ing form more like a verb or an adjective, it is usually a present participle:

Vanessa is shopping.
The movie is exciting.

When we use a verb in -ing form more like a noun, it is usually a gerund:

Shopping is fun.*

You should think of a gerund as a verb in noun form.

Like nouns, gerunds can be the subject or object of a sentence:

Sitting in the middle doesn't bother me.*
I will have stopped traveling because I'll be ancient.

Gerunds are sometimes called "verbal nouns".

Examples:

- Flying is not my favorite pastime!
- Traveling in the future is going to be a lot more luxurious than it is now.
- I will have stopped traveling because I'll be ancient.
- Being on holidays is so wonderful!
- Sitting in the middle doesn't bother me.
