

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: This bear is bare!

Learning Outcome

Describe hypothetical situations in written and spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Think of words in your language that sound the same but have different spelling and/or meaning?
- Think of as many homophones in English as you can and write them down.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about emotions, personal qualities and behavior.
- I can say and use words like fast and bear.
- I can stress I and you.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa and Sally are getting ready to go to the beach.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: Look how blue the sky is.
Sally: Last night's wind blew away the clouds. I think I spent too much time on the beach this morning.
Vanessa: Which one should I wear?
Sally: The blue complements your eyes.
Vanessa: Thanks for the compliment. Blue also suits you especially when you are tanned.
Sally: Thanks. I think I got burned. Look, I got this one on sale!
Vanessa: It's gorgeous. What time do we set sail?
Sally: I thought you were going to find out.
Vanessa: I thought you were going to.
Sally: I was supposed to pay the bill while you checked.
Vanessa: I didn't know where to get the info. There was no sign anywhere, and then I started dancing and forgot.
Sally: I think the next one leaves around one. We'll take that. Sound good?
Vanessa: My dance partner won me over with his wit and style.
Sally: You aren't even listening. You might not care to go snorkeling but I do.
Vanessa: No. I definitely want to go snorkeling. Hey Sally, you look really pale. Are you okay?
Sally: Get me that pail over there. I think I'm going to be sick.
Vanessa: What happened?
Sally: Sunstroke. Looks like you'll have to go without me.
Vanessa: I can't just leave you here.
Sally: Please go.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa and Sally want to emphasize some ideas as they speak.

Instructions: Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. I thought you were going to.
2. I was supposed to pay the bill while you checked.
3. You might not care to go snorkeling but I do.
4. No. I definitely want to go snorkeling.
5. I think you were in charge of asking.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa is calling Sally. She's admitted at the hospital.

Instructions: Complete the sentences with the provided options. Read the sentences aloud.

Word Bank

complement / pail / compliment / pale / no / know / one

Vanessa: How are you, Sally?

Sally: I don't _____. The doctor told me he has _____ clue.

Vanessa: I was surprised when I saw you looking really _____!

Sally: And when I asked you for a _____. But don't worry, I'll just stay here _____ day.

Vanessa: I loved the _____ you gave me about the blue suit.

Sally: I told you it'd _____ your eyes!

Extension Activity

Write a dialogue about a disagreement.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Think of a disagreement you might have with a friend or family member.
- Write a dialogue between two people disagreeing.
- Make sure you stress I and you in the dialogue.
- Include some homophones where possible.(e.g. pail and pale)
- Read the dialogue aloud with stress on I and you.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write a dialogue.

☐ ☐

I put stress on I and you.

☐ ☐

I include homophones in the dialogue.

☐ ☐

I read the dialogue aloud to practice stressing I and you.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to complement (verb): to add to something in a way that improves it or makes it more attractive e.g. The blue complements your eyes.
- compliment (noun): a remark that expresses praise or admiration of somebody e.g. Thanks for the compliment.
- tanned (adjective): having darker skin than before because of spending time in the sun e.g. Blue also suits you especially when you are tanned.
- wit (noun): the ability to use words in a clever way to make people laugh e.g. My dance partner won me over with his wit and style.
- pale (adjective): having skin that is whiter than usual because of illness, a strong emotion, etc.
e.g. Hey Sally, you look really pale. Are you okay?
- pail (noun): a bucket
e.g. Get me that pail over there.

Learning Points

Using Homonyms and Homophones

Homonyms are made up of homophones and homographs.

A homophone is a word that has the same sound as another word but has a different meaning and may have a different spelling.

For example:

right and write

right (noun) and right (adjective)

A homograph is a word that has the same spelling as another word but has a different sound and a different meaning.

For example:

present (noun) and present (verb)

wind (noun) and wind (verb)

Examples:

- blue ... blew
- complement ... compliment
- pail ... pale
- won ... one
- know ... no
- present ... present
- excuse (s) ... excuse (z)

Learning Points

Stressing You and I

You stress you and I to add meaning and emphasis to a statement.

When you stress a word, you make it longer, louder and a little higher tone. You can put stress on a word to emphasize it and make your meaning clearer.

You stress you or I when you want to emphasize something about a person that is not expected.

For example:

I thought you were going to find out.

- When you put stress on you, you shift the emphasis to the other person.

Read these sentences with stress on the bolded words.

- I was supposed to pay the bill while you checked.
- You might not care to go snorkeling but I do.
- No. I definitely want to go snorkeling.

