Let's Start!

Can you see into the future?

Learning Outcome

Describe hypothetical situations in written and spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you believe that people can read the future in cards or your palm?
- Would you ever go to a fortune teller? Why? Why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about jobs, work and money.
- I can talk about future action.
- I can talk about what I will be doing or what I will have done.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa goes to a fortune teller!

* A "fortune teller" is someone who predicts your future.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Fortune Teller: Welcome Vanessa. Have a seat.

Vanessa: Thanks.

Fortune Teller: I will need a piece of jewelry. How about your ring?

Vanessa: Here you go.

Fortune Teller: You have an appointment tomorrow at 6:30.

Vanessa: Well, yes. The meeting starts at 6:30 tomorrow!

Fortune Teller: Hmm. Interesting. Very soon you will be delving into a new project that involves making a profit. It is happening slowly at first and then gaining speed. It is an endeavor that requires travel and expansion of your career. You are going to gain a certain degree of fame.

Vanessa: Go on.

Fortune Teller: I see a man. He's tall and self-assured. He will provide you with financial stability, but there will be a price.

Vanessa: Oh that doesn't ...

Fortune Teller: Wait! In the distance there is another influence. You will be combining your ideas with hers. You will have learned from your past failures and this woman will be mentoring you.

Fortune Teller: You will need her when your career moves into the public arena. You are moving into the public eye. People will be following your career and watching you carefully. Your friends will be behind you and keep you safe from misfortune. If you don't mind, I would like to tell you something personal. You are going to fall in love with two men but the first will disappear mysteriously. Your strength will be called upon during this time, and by the time he is found, you will have taken another path.

Vanessa: Okay. I think I've heard enough. Thank you. I have to go.

Let's Practice!

The fortune teller's predictions don't seem believable* to Vanessa.

*When you don't think something is true, those ideas are not "believable".

Instructions: Find the correct match for halves 1 - 5. Write the number in the corresponding blank space before the ending halves. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

- | | |
|------------------------------|--|
| 1. Vanessa's meeting | ___ starts at 6:30 tomorrow. |
| 2. Vanessa's project | ___ when her career moves into the public eye. |
| 3. She is going | ___ is happening slowly at first. |
| 4. A woman will help Vanessa | ___ to gain a certain degree of fame. |

Let's Practice!

Sally asks Vanessa about her experience at the fortune teller's.

Instructions: Complete the sentences by selecting the correct option and writing it in the blank space provided.

1 'll be delving 'll have delved 'll be delved	2 'll have combined 'll be combined 'll be combining	3 will be learned will have learned will be learning	4 will have taken will be taking will be taken
--	--	--	--

Sally: So, how was it?

Vanessa: I don't know. I wasn't really convinced. Supposedly, I 1. _____ into a new project.

Sally: Really? What else did she tell you?

Vanessa: She also said I'll find a mentor. I 2. _____ my ideas with hers, and by the time we finish our project, I 3. _____ from my past failures.

Sally: Well, that sounds logical to me.

Vanessa: I'm not sure. She even told me about meeting two men, and one of them 4. _____ another path when he finds me.

Sally: That sounds exciting.

Vanessa: Not really. I won't be going to another fortune teller soon, that's for sure.

The Future Continuous and Future Perfect Tenses

You use the Future Continuous tense to talk about something happening that will be happening at a particular time in the future.

The Future Perfect tense is used to express an action that will be finished at some point in the future.

When you use the Future Continuous tense, the action will have started before that moment but it will not have finished at that moment.

For example:

I will be studying at the library at 4:00 p.m. tomorrow.

The person will start studying at some point in the future and be studying at 4:00 p.m. It is not clear when the person will stop studying.

For example:

You can call me at home at 7:00 p.m. I will have arrived home from the office by 6:30 p.m.

The plane will leave the airport at 9:15 a.m. You will get to the airport at 9:00 a.m. When you arrive, the plane will have left.

Look at the chart for the structure of the Future Continuous and Future Perfect tenses:

Name	Structure	Example
Future Continuous	will (not) + be + verb -ing	Very soon you will be delving into a new project that involves making a profit.
Future Perfect	will + have + past participle	By the time he is found, you will have taken another path.

Examples:

- People will be following your career and watching you carefully.
- You will be combining your ideas with hers.
- You will have learned from your past failures and this woman will be mentoring you.

The Future

You can use four different tenses to talk about the future.

When you talk about things that are not decided, or when you make a decision at the moment of speaking for the future, you use the modal will.

When you ask about intentions, you use be going to.

When you discuss things that are planned in the future, you can use the Present Continuous tense.

You use the Simple Present when you talk about schedules and timetables.

Will	You will need her when your career moves into the public arena.
Be going to	You are going to fall in love with two men but the first will disappear mysteriously.
Present Continuous	You are moving into the public eye.
Simple Present	The meeting starts at 6:30 tomorrow!
